

The cute illustrations in this paper craft project re-create ingredients often used in ohaw, and the traditional implements used to make it. In Ainu, "ohaw" means "soup." Ainu soups are simple, made using meat and fish with wild vegetables and other such ingredients, and seasoned using only oil and salt. Adding such wild vegetables as pukusa (Alpine leek) and ohawkina (soft windflower) makes the soup flavorful and tasty. What will your soup taste like?

Choosing favorite ingredients, cutting them up, then putting the soup on the fire to cook – this makes it possible to learn while playing at cooking step by step, so it's ideal for pretend play with small children. Learn the Ainu words for food items and utensils while having fun!
